UPDATED PLUGIN RELEASE: GD QUANTUM THEME PRO 2.0 FOR BBPRESS

Now featuring 3 themes, creating custom style in Customizer, namespaced PHP code

Niš, Serbia, November 18, 2019. Dev4Press today announced the release of the updated plugin for WordPress and bbPress: GD Quantum Theme Pro 2.0 for bbPress. GD Quantum Theme Pro for bbPress is a unique plugin that replaces default bbPress templates package with the new, modern templates and styling package focused on making forums fully responsive, easy to style and customize using the WordPress Customizer.

The goal of the plugin is to make bbPress forums styling easier, while at the same time bringing modernized styling for making forums more user-friendly, by replacing default bbPress templates and styling that have not changed since the bbPress plugin was first released, back in 2011.

GD Quantum Theme Pro is a plugin, not really a theme, but it brings the package of templates and styling for bbPress forums, and it can integrate into most WordPress themes without any changes. Its templates can be customized in the same way Default bbPress templates can be.

The new plugin version has gone through an extensive rewrite of the PHP code, and it is now fully namespaced and using the autoloader for improved performance. Previous 'Default Gray' theme has been improved and it is now accompanied by two more distinct themes: 'Classic Gray' and 'Light Gray'. These new themes allow you to integrate bbPress forums more easily into a wide range of existing WordPress themes. And, to help with the integration, plugin's Customizer panel allows the website administrator to make a new style based on the existing themes, by changing main theme colours and typography elements. Now only that, but each theme has many more additional colours that can be changed for even more in-depth style customization allowing changes to the form elements, post lists and more (depending on the Quantum theme in use).
